FROGS

Quite a few frogs observed while at lodge. Unfortunately all except one were 'Rain Frogs' i.e. Pristimantis (and others) species. Very hard to identify unless in the hand and with a frog specialist. Very likely to be a few more around lodge other than I have identified.

Truando Toad	Rhaebo haematiticus	Rio Silanche
No English name known	Craugaster longirostris	Rio Silanche?
No English name known	Pristimantis achatinus	Lodge & Milpe(?)	Fairly commonly found on wet nights - some individuals up to about 50mm long. PHOTO BELOW

Pinnochio Rain-Peeper	Pristimantis appendiculatus	Lodge	Great looking frog - up to about 40mm long. PHOTO BELOW
-----------------------	------------------------------------	-------	--

Common name	Scientific name	Location	Notes

Unidentified frogs	?		Heaps of frog metamorphs observed in bushes near village one morning. Very unlikely to be 'Rain Frogs' but too juvenile to be identified. PHOTO BELOW

MAMMALS
Kinkajou	Potos flavus	Lodge?	A large (ish) arboreal mammal disturbed while spotlighting. Made strange barking sounds but no clear view apart from eyeshine. Kinkajou a good bet.
Central American (Western) Agouti	Dasyprocta punctatus	Lodge	Pair clearly observed from hide on two occasions. Quite large compared to the other times I have seen this species, apparently can't rule out Paca but no spots observed on coat.
Red-tailed Squirrel	Sciurus granatensis	Many	Lodge/Bellavista/Milpe/Mashpi. Common (obviously)
Forest Small Rice-rat?	Microryzomys minutus	Lodge	Small rodent observed while spotlighting a couple of times. Identification probably impossible without killing it.
Brazilian Rabbit	Sylvilagus brasiliensis	Yanacocha

And a crapload of great invertebrates as well!
